GAME PREVIEW

BENGALS vs. RAVENS

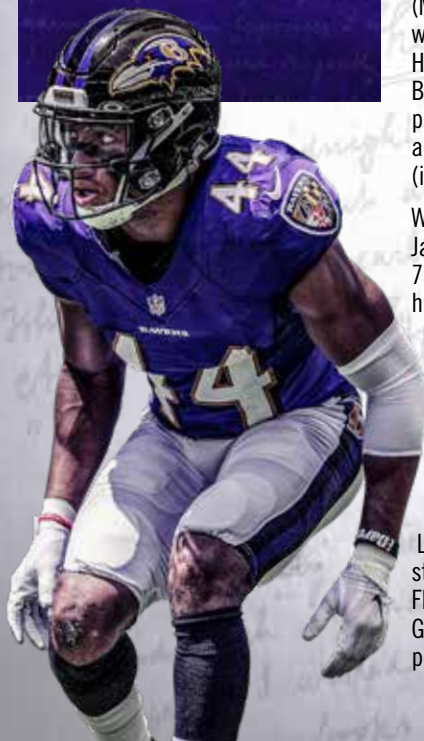

WEEK 13 | THURSDAY, NOV. 27, 2025

WR Zay Flowers

QUOTH THE RAVEN

"I think this team is really starting to come together, and it's really good. It's a pleasure to be on this team. It's a pleasure to get coached by the coaches. It's good vibes, it's good energy in the building, and it just seems like we're all working towards something. Even when something's not right – when special teams isn't right, defense isn't right [or] offense isn't right – we're still building with one another, and so it's really encouraging."

— CB Marlon Humphrey

Riding a five-game winning streak, the Baltimore Ravens (6-5) host the Cincinnati Bengals (3-8) for a Thanksgiving Night special from M&T Bank Stadium (8:20 p.m. kickoff). Baltimore currently sits tied atop the AFC North standings with the Pittsburgh Steelers (6-5), who the Ravens will play in Week 14, followed by a rematch with Cincinnati in Week 15.

Baltimore is 32-26 vs. Cincinnati in all-time regular season play, including a 19-15 mark under head coach John Harbaugh. The Ravens have won three straight against Cincinnati at home – including six of the past seven matchups – and are 12-5 vs. the Bengals in Charm City with Coach Harbaugh at the helm.

Harbaugh (18th season) is the NFL's second-longest-tenured head coach (Mike Tomlin - 19), with his 191 total wins ranking as the 13th most by a HC in NFL history. Harbaugh has led Baltimore to 12 playoff berths in the past 17 seasons and to six postseason appearances in the last seven years (including three straight).

With two-time league MVP QB Lamar Jackson as starter, the Ravens own a 75-27 regular season record, making his .735 winning % the fourth-best mark by a QB in NFL history. Jackson-led teams are 21-7 in primetime games, making his .750 winning percentage in such contests the best in NFL history. (This includes a league-best .846 mark – at 11-2 – in home primetime games.)

Last Sunday vs. NYJ, Baltimore's stifling defense forced 2 turnovers (1 FF/FR by CB Marlon Humphrey/S Aloh Gilman & 1 INT by CB T.J. Tampa), produced 3 sacks (including 1.5 by

NUMBERS TO NOTE

.718 An NFL-best winning percentage (51-20 record) in the month of November by the Ravens during the John Harbaugh Era (since 2008). Baltimore is 30-7 (.811) at home in November under Harbaugh, also ranking No. 1 in the league since '08.

17 Career FFs (including 2 this season) by CB Marlon Humphrey, marking the NFL's most by a DB since 2017 when he entered the league.

1 NFL punter (P Jordan Stout) to rank in the Top 2 in both net (46.2 – first) and gross (51.4 – second) punting average.

22-4 The Ravens' record at home in primetime games since 2008 (John Harbaugh Era), ranking as the NFL's best such mark.

6 Consecutive games the Ravens have held opponents under 20 points, which is the NFL's longest-active streak (Packers - four & Broncos - 3). Since Week 8 (Oct. 26), Baltimore has also allowed the fewest points per game (13.4) during that span.

OLB Dre'Mont Jones) and registered 7 QB hits, en route to a 23-10 victory. RB Derrick Henry recorded 2 rushing TDs, and rookie K Tyler Loop hit all 3 FGAs, as the Ravens won their fifth-consecutive game after starting the season 1-5.

ON HOW ADVERSITY HAS FORGED THE RAVENS FOR THE ROAD AHEAD:

"I think that faith, guts and the idea that guys are [resilient]... You walk through all these things, and it makes you stronger and builds you into what you need to be. And hopefully, that's the type of team that we are becoming. We still have a whole bunch of games left to fight through, and they're all going to be tough games. The rest of the season is going to be tough, so we're going to have to be tough also. We're going to have to be tough enough to deal with [any type of adversity]."

THE DUALITY OF LAMAR JACKSON

By Sierra Godsey

Balance is an ideology sought after by all NFL quarterbacks to harmonize two sides of the demanding position: the dialed-in commander on the field meets who he is as a leader and teammate off of it.

For Ravens franchise quarterback Lamar Jackson, he humbly embodies both.

From the outside world, most see the competitor side of Jackson as a two-time MVP, three-time All-Pro quarterback and the NFL's all-time leader in passer rating who smashes records, befuddles defenses and sparks team success. If you ask Jackson's locker room brethren, his ability to create and maintain strong bonds and a brotherhood with "his guys" is admired by all.

Players, coaches and staff members alike have spoken about how his magnetic personality pulls them together, whether it's for a comedic interaction – like the time he wore a graphic tee depicting the character "Buford" from Phineas and Ferb to poke fun at his trusted center Tyler Linderbaum – or when he has gone the extra mile (literally) to bond with his peers.

"In the offseason, I had him running hills, and usually, he doesn't run hills," commented Pro Bowl wide receiver Zay Flowers. "It just shows the type of person he is.

"He has a connection with everybody on the team. He has a way of making everyone laugh and feel comfortable just by being in his presence. If he has a connection with you, he is willing to do anything to help you out and just look out for you."

Those relationships have proven lethal for opposing defenders this season, with Jackson leading the charge during Baltimore's five-game winning streak. He has also continued to perform at an elite level, ranking No.1 in the league in both passer rating (115.5) and passing touchdown percentage (8.7%), while also garnering AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors after throwing four touchdown passes in a 28-6 victory at Miami.

As that team chemistry has clearly been demonstrated on the field, it also consistently shows up in the locker room, with teammates regularly voicing No. 8's emphasis of getting to know rookie and veteran players alike, joyfully meeting people where they are at in life. His unique ability to connect is a common theme.

"The first time I ever met 'L,' he playfully smacked me upside the head and said, 'What's up, rook?'" tight end Isaiah Likely shared.

"No matter who you are, what you go through or where you've been, he will treat you like he's known you for years. I feel like that is one of the blessings about Lamar."

Even as one of the most decorated quarterbacks in league history, Jackson remains a humble leader. After a tough loss or when things go awry, Jackson is there to take the blame. After wins, he always deflects praise and celebrates his teammates for their triumphs.

While the spotlight from fans and media will always be on him, Jackson keeps his focus on fostering a fellowship with his guys.

"We all joke on each other," he stated. "If I can say my jokes to you, and you can take it and laugh it off, and you say a joke to me, and I laugh it off, that's a form of brotherhood right there."

That strong bond in the locker room has helped carry the team through the ups and downs of the 2025 season, positioning Baltimore for another AFC North title push. With the balanced Jackson at the helm, the Ravens' spirit and resolve is always trending up.

"He's one of the biggest competitors I have ever played with," Linderbaum affirmed. "He's also a kid at heart. He likes to joke around and have fun. But when he steps on the field, especially on Sundays, he's a completely different person and has one goal in mind, and that is to win and play at a high level."

Balancing all those responsibilities is one tell of a generational quarterback, and Lamar Jackson is the epitome of that duality.

S ALOHI GILMAN

EVERMORE

Alohi Gilman, a Hawaii native, joined the Ravens in Week 6 after being traded to Baltimore from the Chargers. “Lo,” who was a senior at Notre Dame when teammate Kyle Hamilton was a freshman, has made an immediate impact on the defense during the team’s five-game winning streak. Get to know more about him below:

Who is your role model and why?

My role model is my father. He has been my mentor and my coach all my life. He played football in college as a defensive back as well. He’s been the person who has taught me a lot of the qualities that have gotten me to where I am today. Definitely my dad — he taught me sacrifice, and the list goes on. Shoutout to my pops.

What motivates you?

Growth has always motivated me. For me, playing ball is all about how high I can push my ceiling and my limits to play the best football that I can. I like the journey of growing, getting better and challenging myself, so that’s what motivates me on a day-to-day basis.

If you could give rookie Alohi advice, what would it be?

It seems kind of crazy, but I would just tell him not to worry. Don’t overthink, just enjoy the moment. Don’t worry about the outside noise, focus on yourself and what motivates you daily. Remember who you are and just have fun.

If you didn’t play football, what would you be doing right now?

Surfing for sure. I would be surfing as much as I can.

Is there a fun fact about you that Ravens fans would find hard to believe?

It’s probably not really a fun fact, but I originally played football at the Naval Academy, so I had actually lived in Maryland before playing for the Ravens.

How did your experience playing at Navy help to shape you into the person you are today?

My Navy experience was different [from the normal college experience] for sure. It was great for me, because it taught me to grow up fast. I call it my accelerated growth phase, because I had to learn a lot in a short amount of time. It taught me about discipline and leadership. But most importantly, it taught me to ask myself who I am as a person and dive deeper to really understand who I am. That has led me to a great foundation for understanding who I am.

Who are some of your favorite musical artists?

Being from Hawaii, I love reggae, soul and R&B. For reggae, I have to shout out the “O.G.,” Bob Marley. And then there are a lot of island reggae artists that I love, like Fiji and J Boog.

THANKSGIVING EVENTS & SUPPORT

This November, Ravens players and Legends celebrated the holidays by distributing turkeys and Thanksgiving meals to those in need across Baltimore.

In the weeks leading up to Thanksgiving, 14 players, including S Kyle Hamilton, WR DeAndre Hopkins, T Ronnie Stanley, OLB Kyle Van Noy and CB Nate Wiggins, teamed up to purchase 1,900 turkeys and side dishes for families throughout Baltimore.

XX Ravens players including ILB Teddy Buchanan, OLB Mike Green, S Keondre Jackson, RB Keaton Mitchell and FB Patrick Ricard distributed the turkeys and sides across the eight schools, churches and community centers in and around Baltimore.

Ravens Legends also continued to give back to the Baltimore community.

Bart Scott was joined by four Legends, including Ray Rice and Torrey Smith, as he hosted his annual Thanksgiving dinner at Helping Up Mission. Ed Reed continued his annual tradition of hosting turkey distributions at both The Seed School and Booker T. Washington.

Lastly, QB Lamar Jackson (Baltimore), CB Chidobe Awuzie (Dallas), RB Derrick Henry (Yulee, FL) and ILB Roquan Smith (Montezuma, GA) all hosted individual turkey distributions.

Overall, Ravens players contributed to 7,000+ meals and 3,600 turkeys and sides to community members across the country.

IN OUR COMMUNITY

10/26 In October, the Ravens hosted Make-A-Wish recipients Cameron and Jack at the Under Armour Performance Center. Both Cameron and Jack had their wishes fulfilled to meet QB Lamar Jackson and the rest of the team.

11/10 WR Rashod Bateman officially launched his Without You Foundation. In its first official event, the foundation hosted a wellness and empowerment experience for women of Baltimore's Marian House.

11/10 Ravens Legend and the team's director of player engagement Jameel McClain and his 53 Families Foundation hosted a Thanksgiving dinner for over 6,500 Baltimore community members in need. Ravens players, including WR Zay Flowers, supported the annual event.
